Our advising team is proud of all you have accomplished during this unprecedented year of remote instruction and we’re excited for your next steps at SF State. Starting June 7th, your advising home base will change if you are declared in a major or pre-major. Learn where to seek advising support this summer and beyond, and if you are transitioning to another advising office, know that it has been a privilege to partner with you on your path to graduation.

WHERE TO GO FOR ADVISING STARTING JUNE 7, 2021

UNDECLARED STUDENTS

Continue to meet with your assigned UAC advisor until you declare your major. If you would like to discuss the majors you have in mind, you are welcome to schedule an appointment with your academic advisor. Once you decide on a major, declare as soon as possible to receive communications from your department and future advisors.

DECLARED MAJORS AND PRE-MAJORS

Declared majors and pre-majors can begin meeting with advisors associated with their college and major. For general advising questions (i.e. GE, class planning, units, policies), visit the college resource center for your major (see below). For major-specific guidance, refer to your department’s website to learn how to connect with a major advisor (Business Administration majors receive major advising from the Lam Family College of Business Student Success Center).
